Abstract - Mahamahopadhyaya Dr. U. V.Swaminatha Iyer Library is one of the oldest Manuscript Libraries having palm leaf and paper manuscripts amongst its collection which provides authentic records for tracing the cultural, social, political and economic history of people in Tamil speaking regions as such. This paper elicits the quantum of manuscript collections in this library. It recognizes the availability of access of manuscripts in different languages together with relevant information about the various subjects contained in these manuscripts housed in this library. This paper states the different aspects of manuscript management in this library. This paper also aims to restructure and reconstruct the information about the manuscript collection in digital environment and to provide a web OPAC for dissemination of information about the rich and valuable knowledge contained in the manuscript collections of the library.

Keywords: Manuscripts, Palm Leaf Manuscripts, Paper Manuscripts, Collection Development, Web OPAC

I. INTRODUCTION

Collection development is a systematic building of information resources in a library and it is a continuous process. The Manuscript libraries have either bequeathed the Manuscript from a literary savant or received the Manuscript as donations. A Manuscript is a hand written composition on paper, bark, cloth, metal, palm leaf or any other material dating back at least 75 years that has significant scientific, historical or aesthetic value. Manuscripts are found in hundreds of languages and scripts. One language is written in a number of scripts. For e.g. Sanskrit is written in Telugu Script, Grantha script, Devanagari script, Oriya script and so on. Latin word Manuscriptum, a word first recorded in 1594 as a Latinization of earlier Germanic words used in middle age. The term Manuscriptum, literally means Manuscript or hand written. Manuscripts provide authentic records for tracing the cultural, social, political and economic history of people of a region or a country as such.

India possesses the largest number of manuscripts in the world which is mainly due to the prosperous literary tradition. The literary tradition of ancient India contained in the manuscripts were preserved in the houses of learned scholars, gurukulas, temples, royal palaces, who patronage art and literature. Several important manuscripts libraries were destroyed by foreign invaders. The remaining known manuscripts in the form of palm leaf, birch bark, and paper are being housed in renowned libraries like, Thanjavur Sarasvati Mahal Library, Thanjavur; Government Oriental Library, Chennai; Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer Library and the like.

II. SCOPE AND OBJECTIVES OF THE STUDY

This paper presents the survey and the state-of-the-art-of the Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer Library which is the oldest and having large collection of manuscripts in the state of Tamil Nadu. The objectives of the paper are as follows:

1. To present the quantum of manuscript collection in Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer library;
2. To elicit the acquisition policy and the process of collection development of manuscripts in Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer library;
3. To explore the different aspects of manuscript management in Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer library;
4. To identify the language wise availability of palm leaf and paper manuscripts;
5. To identify work wise availability of palm leaf and paper manuscript collection.

III. PROFILE OF DR.U.V.SWAMINATHA IYER LIBRARY

Wherever Tamil is known and Tamil scholarship is valued, the name of Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer is known. Dr. U.V. Swaminatha Iyer was solely responsible for unearthing and editing the great Tamil classics with his depth of knowledge, wealth of learning and beauty of thought and expression. At the time of his death he was able to bequeath to the World of Tamil Scholarship a treasure of immeasurable value in the form of manuscripts. This valuable treasure was handed over as a gift in 1943 to Srimati. Rukmanidevi, President of Kalakshetra Foundation, Chennai by the Venerable scholar's devoted Son Sri. S. Kalyana Sundara Iyer. The main object of this gesture was to see that Dr. U.V. Swaminatha Iyer's rare and valuable collections were preserved intact and their individuality and purity maintained and also to continue Dr. U.V. Swaminatha Iyer's Editorial work in the same style. Consequently this Library bearing the name of Dr. U.V. Swaminatha Iyer was established in the year 1943. The Library is registered as a Charitable Literary Society under the societies registration act. XXI of 1860. The Library receives maintenance grant from the Government of Tamil Nadu. It has three kinds of collections of great literary value and merit, namely Notes of Various kinds, Paper manuscripts and Palm leaf manuscripts apart from printed books. The Library is open to public for reference of available information materials housed. The Library is engaged in the publication of books from original manuscripts following the footsteps of Dr. U.V. Swaminatha Iyer.

A. Acquisition of Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer Library

The Library has 14 out of the 18 Sangam Literary Tamil works namely the Pattupattu and Ettu-t-tokai. Quantum of Collections of the Library are given in Table I.

Table III shows that the library has maximum of 829 registers of Paper manuscripts in Tamil followed by 15 registers of Malayalam Paper manuscripts. While in Sanskrit language the library has 15 registers of paper manuscripts and the least number of three registers of Paper manuscripts are available in English language. The Table also shows that the library has maximum of Tamil palm leaf manuscripts numbering 1919 followed by Sanskrit 142 numbers and the least collection of palm leaf is in Telugu language numbering 88.

C. Period-wise Acquisition of Manuscripts

The library acquires manuscripts only through donations. Table IV depicts acquisition of palm leaves manuscripts up to 2010. It shows that the acquisition of palm leaves were highest during 1943 to 1950 aggregating to 939 and the next highest period was during 2001 to 2010. It is interesting to note there has been a decreasing trend from 1951 to 1960 from acquisition of 273 palm leaf bundles to 170 palm leaf bundles only during 1961 to 1970. While on the other hand it is evident that only 73 bundles were received during the period from 1971 to 1980 and none during the period from 1981 to 1990. The illustrated figure also shows that 38 palm leaves were received during the period from 1991 to 2000 and 656 palm leaves were received during period from 2001 to 2010.

It is interesting to note that after a steady decline in the rate of acquisition of palm leaves from the year 1951 onwards, there is an appreciable increase in the number of palm leaves acquired during the period from 2001 to 2010. It shows that there have been efforts both on the part of the library and donors in enhancing the rich manuscript collections in the Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer Library.

Paper manuscripts	1 volume	855	891	726	741	129	150

It is evident from the Table V that out of 2149 palm leave bundles having 3709 works, 1439 bundles having 2572 works have been included in the five volumes of the descriptive catalogues published by Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer Library. The remaining 710 bundles comprising of 1137 works have not yet been included in any catalogue. Similarly, out of 855 paper manuscripts, having nearly 891 works, only 726 paper manuscripts containing 741 works have been included in the descriptive catalogue (Vol. No. 5). However, the remaining 129 paper manuscripts containing about 150 works have not been included in any catalogue.

As such 839 manuscripts having about 1287 works need to be catalogued. Out of 2572 works in Tamil for four works details are not available fully.

The information contained in the descriptive catalogue is made available only to the users who visit the library in person. Further, library catalogue are not available even in card form. The library has not started using computers for their automation. Table VI presents the total number of manuscripts available in the languages Tamil and English respectively as given in the descriptive volumes.

V. WORK WISE COLLECTION IN TAMIL PALM LEAF MANUSCRIPTS

From the descriptive catalogues published as shown in the Tables V and VI the details for works contained Tamil palm leaf manuscripts in Dr.U.V.Swaminatha Iyer Library are given in Tables VII and VIII which can be searched from the web page created.

VI. CONCLUSION

In this study creation of an online public access catalogue with multilingual search option for collections of Dr.U.Swaminatha Iyer Library together with complete detail\ about the palm leaf collections in Tamil language has been attempted. In the same way complete details about the works contained in Sanskrit palm leaf manuscripts and the paper manuscripts as such can be envisaged. This will help in creating a web site for Dr.U.Swaminatha Iyer Library in future and enable the library to get its primordial place in the global environment. Thus Web OPAC creation enables preservation and conservation of information about manuscripts in the digital environment and thereby bridges the gap between information seekers and the information contained in manuscripts housed in Dr.U.Swaminatha Iyer Library. The paradigm shift with respect to the use of available information is from a single user to that of multi-users simultaneously and use of available information on a particular nature of work.
